The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

'Eighty Free Booklets'

This column is not about to take on the indomitable Internal Revenue Service as an antagonist—but the IRS radio commercials have to be answered.

In these commercials, being aired over local stations, a poor, lost soul calls the IRS honcho to ask some ridiculous questions.

The IRS spokesman, answering in a nasal, superior tone, informs the taxpayer that "there are more than 80 free booklets" explaining the tax responsibilities of the taxpayer... as he calls off the number of the booklet as taxpayer asks the question.

There are regulations covering every item of income, but those of us who try desperately to meet our share of government spending need no supercilious, nasal nonentity offering the choice of reading "80 free booklets" or face the prospect of being tied down by IRS agents.

It tells as much as anything the need for revising and simplifying IRS rules so that the average, law-abiding citizen can understand them.

Never in history have those who support government had to study so diligently to avert failing to meet what government says is our obligation to meet some of the most profligate spending programs in history.

Ask your congressman to simplify the tax forms. Your tax bill may not be any less but figuring it will prove less frustrating.

Needy Not Getting Help

There has been an admission that food stamps have been going to middle income groups which includes students from well-to-do families, professional people and those who couldn't, by standard measurement, be declared "needy."

Now comes a report from the U.S. Press Assn. that many of our "help the poor" programs do not come near the goal.

For example, Senator Jesse Helms of North Carolina, looking at the various aid programs, says that "it often appears that it is mostly the administrators of the programs—the Federal bureaucrats, if you please—who benefit most."

Senator Helms said that he ran across a Federally financed program recently that "surely sets some sort of record for waste and inefficiency. It was supposed to be a program to provide emergency supplies of coal and fuel oil to needy families."

It turned out that of the $21,025 allocated to a particular county, less than 3 per cent of the money actually went for coal and fuel oil for the needy. The balance of the money—more than 97 per cent—went for the salaries of the people running the program!

This is not to suggest that all Federal welfare programs are as bad as the one cited by Senator Helms. However it is a fact that a huge proportion of "welfare" money goes for the "overhead" of the government bureaus—not only salaries, wages, fringe benefits, vacation pay and the like, but also for the enormous expense of the rent (and/or purchase), heat, light, and maintenance of the government buildings required to house the tens of thousands of government workers.

The best way to help the poor in America is to strengthen our free enterprise system so that people can have jobs—and you can't do that by simply creating more bureaus.

Simply paying Government bureaucrats to take money out of the pockets of one group of Americans to hand out to another group of Americans is an exercise in futility that produces nothing of value and tends to impoverish everyone.

Ronald Reagan Says:

"Whenever one speaks of capital punishment, there is danger of being cast as a zealot, waving the bloody shirt. And I am fully aware that many citizens honestly oppose capital punishment on moral grounds or because of their own compassionate views. I respect their opinions. They are entitled to express them and seek to convince others of the validity of their belief.

"But a majority of our citizens strongly believe that capital punishment is a deterrent to crime. And I cannot help but draw some degree of significance from the fact that during the time that we have had an almost total moratorium on capital punishment, the rate of violent crime has escalated rapidly."

Robbers Strike Twice In Lemon Grove Holdups

Two 7-11 Stores in Lemon Grove were robbed on consecutive nights last week but sheriff's men say the crimes were unrelated.

On Monday, luck was against Jimmy Hooker, 19 of San Diego, who with a 16 year old youth robbed the 7-11 Store at 3834 Massachusetts ave. of $25 about 11 p.m.

They were tracked down, captured and charged within 15 minutes.

On Tuesday, about 5:30 p.m., a man about 25 robbed the 7-11 Store at Palm and Imperial aves. and escaped on foot. He has not been apprehended.

In the Massachusetts ave. robbery, the pair demanded money at gun point from 7-11 clerk Sherry Beebe, 22. Another clerk, Dennis McGee, was in the rear in the store's office at the time and notified the Lemon Grove office of the sheriff.

A sheriff's patrol unit was in the vicinity at the time and was at the scene in 30 seconds—just as the suspects were fleeing.

The sheriff's helicopter was also in the vicinity and threw its powerful searchlight on the suspects as they climbed a fence at the rear of the store. The pair was captured in the 7100 block of Waite dr.—an adjacent residential section.

Deputies found a .32 cal. revolver in a car near the site. The gun was in the ready-firing position with the hammer cocked, according to Sheriff's detective Sgt. Roger Jacobs.

The helicopter hardly had to change its route when the call went out.

The Palm ave. robber made off with about $40 and successfully fled on foot although a patrol unit responded in minutes, Sgt. Jacobs said.

Supervisors Study Swap Meet Permits, Curbs

There was good news, of sorts, last week for residents in south Spring Valley disturbed about a swap meet which is upsetting the community and creating traffic obstacles.

The Board of Supervisors voted unanimously last week to set into motion legislation which would require a special use permit for any swap meet to operate in unincorporated areas regardless of the zoning designation.

Presently, swap meets can be held on any land zoned for manufacturing uses in the county.

One such swap meet operates on a lot near Akard st. and Quarry rd. in the La Presa area.

Cars have created day-long traffic on streets near the swap meet site, according to Maurice Peterson, Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce member co-ordinating efforts against the swap meet.

Over 900 cars were counted passing the intersection of Akard and Kempton, two single-lane residential streets, in just one hour.

Parking is another problem. Residents are often blocked from their homes because of the illegal parking and heavy traffic. Residents at the Mt. Miguel Covenant Village have complained of not being able to drive to church Sundays because cars block driveways, and a nearby riding stable is said to be losing business due to the congestion, Peterson said.

"It took me an hour to travel a half mile," he said.

He said that 12,000 to 18,000 persons now attend the weekly swap meet.

Peterson is working to oppose the swap meets in Spring Valley despite the fact that they have been a boost to his business. He owns a filling station on Sweetwater and Jamacha blvd. near the swap meet site.

Noise from autos and loud-speakers and litter blown from the swap meet site onto adjoining properties are other features of the swap meet which nearby residents feel are intolerable.

Supervisors voted last week Tuesday to have the county Planning Commission hold hearings on requiring the special use permit. Also, they gave total support for a motion to draft an ordinance which would give the Board of Supervisors authority to revoke a swap meet permit because of excessive traffic or health and safety hazards to the surrounding community.

Decision Due in Week Regarding Jamul Dump

Jamul residents may not have to worry about the prospect of a county sanitary landfill in their neighborhood after this week.

Gerald Wilson, county acting chief administrative officer, said Tuesday that, based on consideration of citizen complaints and a study now in progress by the staff of the Department of Sanitation and Flood Control, a decision will come from his office "within a week" on whether or not to drop the 323-acre site in favor of an alternate location.

Jamul neighbors have formed the Jamul Citizens Committee to fight the landfill location south of Rt. 94 and easterly of Steele Canyon rd. About 100 members of the community met last week at Las Flores School to review progress in their letter writing and petition campaign.

The committee is prepared to fight the proposal, regardless of Wilson's decision. If the site, determined the most convenient by Wilson initially, remains the top choice, residents have an opportunity to oppose it at hearings before the county Planning Commission and the Board of Supervisors.

Wilson said that county staff has about nine alternate sites under consideration.

BoS OK's Tighter Curbs on County Signs

By John Kowalczyk

An amendment to the county sign ordinance banning the use of rotating and flashing signs, was approved last week by the Board of Supervisors. The decision was made at the Supervisors' regular meeting Wednesday without further public comment. Hearings were held by the county Planning Commission and the board of supervisors prior to the decision.

In addition to the amendment, the board also ordered the staff of the Land Use and Environmental Regulations division to investigate more stringent restrictions. Second District Supervisor Dick Brown recommended that roof-top signs be included in the study.

Not Appropriate

"I feel roof-top signs are not appropriate," Brown said in explaining his recommendation. "They don't look good. Signing is essential, but it should be done tastefully. The only reason a merchant puts up a large, garish sign is because other shops do."

New flashing and rotating signs will be banned 30 days after the second reading of the amendment.

Time Table Vague

Questions from this reporter led to Brown's discovery that the wording regarding the enforcement schedule for existing flashing and rotating signs was vague. It was unclear, according to Brown's secretary, whether the enforcement phase-in period would be one year or five years from the date of enactment of the amendment.

As a result, Brown said he would introduce a motion this week to further specify that the period be limited to one year.

The other more stringent regulations under study will apply only to new signs, Brown said. Existing signs will vanish through attrition. The flashing and rotating sign amendment was added to the county's on-premise sign ordinance, passed in August 1974. The ordinance does not cover billboards. Exempt from the amendment are signs which convey information such as time and temperature, Brown said.

Lumber Firm Variance Bid Deadline Passes

A request for a variance in Lemon Grove, turned down by the county zoning administrator, has not been appealed, according to Mrs. B. Shockley, of the zoning office. The request had been made by Ron Dubois, operator of the Cedar and Redwood firm, for setback and fence height variances on property he leased from the S.D. and Arizona Eastern Railway for conducting his lumber operation.

The property is on the west side of railroad property at the corner of Main and North streets.

His request was denied on January 23 by Administrator Bob Jantsch who said the spot is marked for community beautification as part of the Lemon Grove general plan. He also noted the loss of parking that would result from granting the variance.

Dubois was allowed 17 days for appeal and the deadline for filing was February 9. No appeal had been made by the firm by then Shockley said.

BEST SPEAKER — Rene Buchanan, Mt. Miguel student who lives in Spring Valley, was winner of the Lemon Grove VFW sponsored "Voice of Democracy" speech contest. She is flanked by Martin Reilly, speech chairman and William "Happy" Blake, commander of VFW Post 2082. The contest is sponsored annually by VFW posts.

Thursday Auto Cruise Clubs Quit Meetings on Broadway

A flurry of complaints to this newspaper and a few anonymous letters-to-the-editor gave indication this week that the every-Thursday-night "car cruise" resistance pot was boiling.

Public and police alike took a dim view when "up to 100 vehicles" jammed the parking areas which straddle Broadway in midtown Lemon Grove.

Such weekly gatherings may become a thing of the past, it was indicated here this week when Sheriff's Lt.

G. T. Dodson, of the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office, met with Phil Giamaco, vice president of the "Road Runners." The Road Runners is one of 12 car clubs which sponsored the Thursday night get-together on Broadway.

Sheriff's patrolmen and California Highway Patrol units have mingled with the gathering during the past weeks making arrests when the situation indicated. This week, after a meeting with Lt. Dodson, Giamaco said the cruises had been halted.

Reckless Driving, Drinking
Citizens had complained that they observed reckless driving, rubber peeling, excessive drinking and littering. Giamaco admitted that some of these conditions existed but blamed youngsters who congregated to talk shop with club members after learning of the meetings.

Club members distributed handbills last month among the group, warning them against improper activities. This week, the only club members who will be visible will be there "to persuade cruisers to go home. The Road Runners quit Lemon Grove cruises officially on January 29 and are not responsible for disturbances created after that," Giamaco said.

Lt. Dodson, after studying deputies' reports said the men would "continue to take action necessary when illegal acts are observed."

Complaints Few

Until recently there had been few complaints and no report of damage received by the sheriff's office.

However, those who were in the business section on Broadway early Friday morning were greeted by numerous empty beer containers and other debris.

While the Road Runners were sponsoring the cruise, members of the group borrowed trash containers from Winchell's and Jack-in-the-Box and cleaned both sides of Broadway. "We worked until 11:30 on some nights," Giamaco said.

He said the area was not cleaned last week because the Road Runners no longer participated in the cruises. "But we'll probably clean up Thursday night—if there are any cruisers there," he said.

With contacts planned by the sheriff's department and by Giamaco's group, it may be the last time there will be a need for the trash pick up.

Photomads Lose $20 to Armed Man

A white male, about 20, used a handgun with a 2" barrel on February 10 to rob two Spring Valley Photomads of $20 at the shop at 668 Sweetwater rd., Spring Valley. The man made his getaway in an older model auto with a Washington State license plate.

The money was taken at gunpoint from Patricia Breese, 21, and Bridget Lieb, 20, both of San Diego.

Sheriff's deputies are tracking down the vehicle with a license number supplied by a witness.

Area Funeral Services

Earl English

Services were held Saturday at Conrad Lemon Grove Mortuary for Earl H. English, 56, of 1451 Madera st., Lemon Grove, who died in a local hospital on February 12.

English, born in Tulsa, Oklahoma, had been a resident of the area for 19 years. He served 20 years in the Navy and was a veteran of WW II and Korea. He was employed as a sales clerk for Builders Emporium.

English is survived by his wife, Helen; sons Charles and Christopher; a daughter, Leta English of Lemon Grove; his parents, and a brother.

Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery in San Diego.

Barry Parr

Cremation was planned for Barry Parr, 65, who died February 5. He was a resident of 7908 Nichols st., Lemon Grove.

Parr had been a salesman for the Broadway department store. He was a member of the First Church of Christ Scientist, in La Mesa.

Cremation was handled through Telephase Society.

Survivors include his wife, Patricia; two sons, David and Michael, both of Lemon Grove; two brothers and three sisters.

Tyler McDonald

Services were held Wednesday at Conrad Lemon Grove Mortuary for Tyler S. McDonald, 70, of 2211 Massachusetts ave., Lemon Grove.

McDonald, a native of Kentucky, had lived in this area 49 years. He died Sunday in a hospital.

He had retired five years ago as field representative for Calavo Growers. He worked for Calavo 25 years. Before that he owned McDonald's Nursery in La Mesa, where in 1937 he lost 40,000 avocado trees in a freeze at his nursery.

He was the inventor of the "Jiffy Till," a rotary tiller used in agricultural fields.

Surviving are two daughters, two brothers, a sister and seven grandchildren.

Interment was in Mt. Hope Cemetery, San Diego.

H. K. Thurslund

Cryptside service was held Wednesday at Glen Abbey Memorial Park for Harley K. Thurslund, 66, of 3830 Bass st., Lemon Grove. Conrad Lemon Grove Mortuary handled arrangements.

Thurslund was a county resident 29 years, having been a native of Denmark. He had been owner-proprietor of Grove Display for ten years. Prior to that he was a layout machinist for Convair for 15 years.

A member of Lemon Grove Lutheran Church, Thurslund died Sunday at home.

Survivors include his wife, Irene; two daughters, including Maren Hughes of Lemon Grove; a son, and five grandchildren.

CDA Juniors Mark

'50th Anniversary'

The Junior Catholic Daughters of America have declared February 22 their "50th Anniversary Day". Father Joe Sum will celebrate a mass for Juniors of Court Teresa of Avila in honor of the occasion.

Attending will be Mmes. Frank Rosiak, Past State Regent, Maurice McCormick, regent of the senior court. Counselors and advisors Mmes. Milton Smith, Willis Larson, Donald Farney, Daniel Neve and Leo Mueller, chairman.

On Thursday, political satirist Dick Tuck will present a program titled "The Role of Humor in American Politics." The public is invited to hear Tuck discuss his 15 years of experience with political satire beginning at 7 p.m. in the

GUHSD Offers Phone Counseling Service

The El Capitan Information System, serving the entire Grossmont Union High School District, is now in operation, ready to serve students and parents with telephone counseling on a wide range of topics.

The information is on tape cassettes which are played at the request of the anonymous caller. The system is designed to offer answers to questions students or parents may have, but are afraid to ask, or unable due to lack of time or transportation.

Tapes are each given identification codes and titles. Callers may request the tapes by number or title. Information ranges from academic and personal counseling to post-graduate alternatives and advice to parents.

Predigested Sweetener Honey is Packed with Energy, Vitamins

By Lelord Kordel

Please don't get the idea that I am against all sweets in your Eat-and-Grow-Younger diet. I enjoy a sweet as much as you. But I try to confine these sweet treats to a type of carbohydrate that will make a definite contribution to my daily quota of vitamins and minerals—that is to confections and desserts made with pure honey.

Perhaps you've never been told that honey is the only animal carbohydrate available to us as a sweet; that it is the only predigested sugar in nature, being 99 per cent predigested when it reaches your table. Although the dextrose of levulose (sometimes called "grape sugar" or "blood sugar") in honey is the sweetest of all sugars, it is also the mildest, the easiest to digest and the best source of quick, lasting energy.

Honey is one of the few sweets that possess natural laxative properties. It is also one of the quickest stimulants known. More over, the use of honey in the diet as a sweetener does not result in the heavy production of body fat that follows use of 100-per cent carbohydrate, no-vitamin, no-mineral white sugar.

Honey has a high vitamin C content. The darker the honey, the more nutrition it contains.

Vitamins in Honey

Most honeys can also supply your diet with thiamine and riboflavin (along with other B-vitamins) and a good proportion of food minerals, plus some hormones and a few amino acids (protein), together with diastase and enzymes to help digestion.

Can the same be said of refined, white sugar? Indeed not! You get nothing but pure starch when you buy white sugar—and your problem is how to cut down on starches, not increase them.

As a supreme conditioner for strenuous activity, honey was appreciated in ancient times. The unparalleled athletes of ancient Greece trained for their Olympic games on honey. Today mountain climbers and long-distance swimmers use large amounts of honey in their training diets.

There is an easily proved, wholly scientific reason why honey is a wonderful food to build quick energy in rundown bodies, to promptly stimulate fatigued bodies back to normal, and to feed weakened heart muscles.

Honey contains as its prime ingredient the sugar dextrose—which is readily converted in the body to glycogen—the only form sugar can be stored in the body for ready use when energy is needed, (main storage places are the liver, gland cells and muscles).

Every bite of carbohydrate you eat (flour, bread, cake, spaghetti, rice, white sugar, candy, chocolate) must first be broken down to dextrose—a long and intricate process.

You have heard the expression "blood sugar level" many times. What it means is that a certain amount of glycogen must be present in your bloodstream at all times; otherwise your body efficiency grows less and less. In case of a severely decreased blood sugar level (insulin shock, brought on by an overdose of the diabetes treatment, is one instance), the brain slows down so completely that the person goes into a coma.

In a much milder form, a lowered blood sugar level causes you to seek a between-meals snack when you begin feeling brain-and-body tired.

Counteracts Fatigue

Whenever your blood sugar falls to such a low level that it needs raising almost instantly to counteract severe fatigue and a general slowing down of the heart muscle—would you be wise in eating a food that requires long, intricate digestive processing before it can be turned into dextrose that produces instantly usable glycogen? Or should you choose a food that is already 99 per cent predigested dextrose? That means honey!

When you depend on other carbohydrates for energy (the lactose in milk is the one exception), your heart muscle, your brain cells, your bloodstream must all wait for that urgently needed glycogen until the long, intricate digestive process is finished.

Experts Agree

Not only is honey itself the purest of foods, it is also a tritional physiologist, has proved that honey contains an abundance of important B-vitamins.

Two or more teaspoonfuls of honey with each meal will insure adequate honey nutrients for your body needs.

The ancients believed this natural sweet meant a great deal to their survival. And, judging from the results of many modern experiments, I believe it offers all of us an opportunity to live life to its fullest.

Next: Two "new," inexpensive high protein foods you should know about; how they can boost your health.

It's Girl Scout Cookie Time

Girl Scouts of San Diego and Imperial Council will begin taking advance orders for the Annual Cookie Sale beginning Friday and running through February 29. The Cookie Sale provides a major source of funding for the Scouts.

Host Families Sought

Youth Exchange Service (YES) is seeking host families for its foreign exchange students.

Students, who come from Central and South America, Mexico, Canada and Europe, bring their own spending money, are medically covered by insurance and need only room and board. The visits are tax deductible at $50 per month.

Families interested in hosting a student or sending an American student abroad should contact YES at (714) 492-7907.

The Cookie Sale, begun locally in 1936, has provided buildings and facilities in the three Scout camps in the county for youth programming and adult training year round. The facilities are located in Balboa Park, and Camp Winacka and Camp Davidson in the Pine Hills area near Julian.

Planned completion of Phase I of Camp Winacka, a 580 acre site near Julian, highlights this year's sale. Phase I includes the basic site utilities and three troop camp units with a service capacity of nearly 7,000 Scouts a year.

Nearly 12,000 Scouts are expected to participate in the sale. The goal is $240,000 or the sale of 400,000 packages of cookies.

Delivery of cookies to customers and booth sales is scheduled for March 26 through April 4.

Concert Assn. Campaigns for Membership

The annual Grossmont Community Concert Assn. is in the midst of its annual membership campaign which runs through February 21. Paid members are entitled to attend all concerts for the 1976-77 season.

When each campaign closes, no memberships are offered and no tickets to individual performances are sold. Membership fee is $10 adults, $5 students.

Two of the four concerts planned by the Assn. for this year feature pianist Jerome Rose and the Obernkirchen Children's Choir. The other two concerts have not been announced, but a bonus concert, with Rico Sacconi, pianist, is set for April 11.

Campaign headquarters is the La Mesa Chamber of Commerce, phone 464-1475.

Travel Group Offers Budget Trip Packages

A San Diego travel organization, the Bon Voyage Travel Club, is offering a special-members-only discount on domestic and international travel.

Samples of the packages available include a round trip flight to Frankfurt for $399 and a round trip to London for $340. Other areas of interest the Club offers are Mexico, Europe, Las Vegas, and Tahoe.

Membership is $12 each and entitles the purchaser to a discount coupon book worth $250, a membership card, monthly newsletter, and monthly membership parties.

The Bon Voyage Travel Club has offices in San Diego, Mexico, and Europe.

State Study Shows Lag in High School Girls Athletics

The California State Department of Education has delivered a report to the Legislature which shows that girls' programs throughout the state are hampered by low levels of funding, gate receipts, coaching supervision and coaching pay.

The report said the average high school spends $14,227 a year on boys' interscholastic athletic programs and $3,271 on those for girls. Similarly, boys' events draw 17,618 paying spectators a year at the average school, while girls' events draw only 873.

Wide differences were also found in the assignment of coaches. The average boys' coach received $505 per sport in extra pay for coaching, while the average girls' coach received $343. The average school provided 21 coaches for boys' sports and seven for girls.

The typical high school fielded teams in 11 sports for boys and eight for girls. It had a total of 21.5 boys' teams and 10 girls' teams at the varsity and junior level.

Recommend Greater Equality

The Department recommends greater attention at each high school to the factors which may be inhibiting equal opportunity for participation.

Special encouragement should be given to girls to participate in athletics, it said. A need was noted for equal opportunity for boys' and girls' programs to earn gate receipts, which play a major part in funding athletics.

The Department is further recommending a revision of school district pay practices to give boys' and girls' coaches equal pay for like work.

The Department also calls for an investigation by school districts of their own policies to ensure equal funding, use of facilities, transportation and insurance coverage for all sports.

Male and female coordinators at 473 of the state's 700 high schools participated in the study. Nearly one-third of the coordinators recommended that the state general fund be tapped for funds to increase athletic programs.

Other coordinators favor levying a 5 per cent tax on all athletic events in the state or obtaining the funds from local property taxes.

Human Resources Sets Two 12-Hour Meetings

The County Human Resources Agency (HRA) will hold two public meetings to discuss social service needs and priorities with county residents.

The main emphasis of the meetings will be to obtain community input on the Title XX Social Service Plan.

The first meeting will be 9 a.m.-9 p.m. February 25 in Room 358 of the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway, San Diego. The second meeting will be held 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Feb. 26 in the Club House of the Community Church of Vista.

The meetings are being sponsored by Human Care Services, the Department of Public Welfare, Special Manpower Services, Office of Senior Citizens Affairs and the Community Action Program.

Human Resources Agency and Welfare administrators, and members of the Human Resources Agency Advisory Board and Public Welfare Advisory Committee will be present as panel members at both meetings.

Single Parents' Program Offered Tonight at State

Single parents have many roles: provider, social animal, and two parents in one. All of which are important and all of which compete for time.

How to handle these roles and establish priorities will be the topic at tonight's monthly evening meeting of the San Diego State Single Parents Group. Theme for the discussion is "Personhood or Parenthood: Which Comes First?"

The program will be given by representatives of the San Diego Psychology Group.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Casa Real of Aztec Center on campus. It is open to the public at no charge.

The meeting will be preceded by a potluck dinner at 6 p.m. in Casa Real. For the potluck, it is 50 cents per person, or $1 per family, and a food contribution.

Children are welcome at these events, and babysitting will be provided for a nominal charge.

Bobby Valentine Signs As Padres Roster Hits 16

Two more names to the list of players under S.D. Padres contracts with outfielder Bobby Valentine and pitcher Alan Foster coming to terms according to Padres General Manager Peter Bavasi.

The signings of the two ups the count of players signed to 16, almost half of the players currently on the pre-season major league roster.

Valentine, 25, joined the Padres right at the tailend of last season from the California Angels. He appeared in just seven games for San Diego and hit .133 with a home-run.

Prior to joining the Padres he had played for Charleston in the American Assn. and the Angels with respective

'Kin' Takes $120

When Blanca Estelle Martinez arrived at her home at 7090 Russian ave. in Lemon Grove the person she saw in the window should have been a relative — but it wasn't.

It was near midnight and she had just finished work. The person, a white male, apparently heard her car when she parked it and made his getaway, passing her as she entered the apartment building. He was wearing black clothes.

She told sheriff's deputies that $120 was missing from a purse but she gave officers a good description of the thief.

Officers found that a rear sliding door had been left open by the intruder.

Seating Increased at La Costa IPA Pro-Celebrity Tennis Classic

Wimbledon doubles champion Sandy Mayer will join his partner Vitas Gerulaitis in $100,000 Independent Player Assn. Pro-Celebrity tennis classic March 16-21 at La Costa.

The 16-man field includes Jimmy Connors and Ilie Nastase for both the singles and doubles competition.

Mayer, former Stanford star and U.S. Amateur champion, had several stunning victories last year in addition to his doubles win at Wimbledon. Twice he defeated both Nastase and Raul Ramirez and was a finalist in five major events.

With both Connors and Nastase in the La Costa field, Mayer and Gerulaitis will be facing the strongest opposition possible. Connors this year already has won the In-

Mariners Line Shakeup May Close Playoff Gap

Billed in pre-season evaluations as the team's strongest area, the San Diego Mariners' defense has suffered through a raft of injuries but is still the key as the local skaters make their stretch drive for a playoff berth.

Currently on a six-game, 14-day road trip that began with a win at Indianapolis, the WHA Mariners are counting on a veteran blue line corps to help them move ahead of Minnesota and Phoenix in a second place battle in the WHA Western Division.

Leading the rear guards is Brent Hughes, a former NHL performer, and Kevin Morrison, a first-team all-league pick in 1974-75 post-season WHA balloting.

Hughes, an assistant captain with NHL Kansas City last year, has been one of San Diego's most solid checkers and his six goals are the

Jaws Top Draft Choice Signed

Top draft choice Victor Arbeleaz, 22, an aggressive young forward who captained the U. San Francisco soccer team to an NCAA championship last year, has been signed by the San Diego Jaws, San Diego's entry in the North American Soccer League.

Arbeleaz, a team leader for the 21-12 USF Dons, also played for the U.S. Olympic team.

"He brings a quick-strike, goal-getting explosiveness to the Jaws," general manager Paul Deese said. "Now, Coach Derek Trevis must mold his impressive physical skills to the tough NASL level."

Arbeleaz will see action in the first pre-season game against Kyle Rote, Jr. and his Dallas Tornado at Aztec Stadium March 12. He will also play against the greatest soccer player of all time, Pele, when the Jaws face the N.Y. Cosmos March 25 at Balboa Stadium.

Ticket sales have been greater than the team anticipated, it was announced. Reservations may be made by calling 284-9227.

Monarchs Bag Grossmont Mat Championship

The Monte Vista Monarchs won their ninth Grossmont League Wrestling title in the last ten years with a convincing 30-17 victory over the Helix Highlanders last Friday.

The victory gave Monte Vista a third consecutive league championship and ran the Spring Valley high school's consecutive dual meet victory streak to 23.

Doing well in matches that were supposed to be almost sure defeats got Monte Vista off to a fast start and they were, never headed.

The loss by Helix was their first after 14 consecutive dual meet victories. The match was played before a near capacity crowd in the Highlander gym.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

You had to look quick or you would have missed the notice. It was tucked away below the fold on the inside pages of the sports section in what passes for the daily papers in our town.

"Waivers asked for Bobby Tolan," it said, and allowed as how the left handed outfielder was being processed through the waiver list with the intention of giving him his unconditional release so that he might make a deal for himself to play baseball in Japan.

The pity of it is, the move was kind of expected. Leg injuries have slowed Bobby down a step or three and his 10 years in the majors have settled him in for nice $70,000 (it's said) salary. The lack of foot and the healthy poke tended to make Bobby expendable to a team like the Padres, who have a herd of talented youngsters up and coming, fighting for a chance to make the club.

Bobby's longevity and the custom of the trade provide the option for him to seek his best deal in the polite leagues of Japan. He is not that slow of foot that he can his asking fee out of question to the fellows who furnish not raise his star in the skies of the Rising Sun, nor is the world with radios, television sets, fishing gear, automobiles and what-nots till it's coming out of our ears.

Bobby will go to Japan and play the game the way he has always played it. Smart, hard and full bore. He will undoubtedly shoot to immense popularity among Japanese fans, just as he has everywhere he toted a bat or chased down errant fly balls.

He may have had his troubles with front offices here and there or now and then, but that's only because he's almost as smart a dealer as he is a ball player.

And while brass may blister at his brashness, his fellow players and others who follow the game know him to be one of the great team guys ever to lace on his spikes one foot at a time.

Padre broadcaster Jerry Coleman, star of the great Yankee teams of the late 40's and early 50's and a man who knows talent when he sees it, offers Tolan as the only "pure" ball player the Padres ever had.

Bobby did more things instinctively right than most people ever learn," said Coleman. "He was a truly talented player and I expected him to reach super star status. If it hadn't been for those injuries, there's no telling what his impact on the game might have been."

Tolan ripped his archilles tendon in a pick up basketball game during the off-season following the 1970 campaign and sat out the entire 1971 season. Many observers of the national pastime thought Tolan's career was over, but guts, hard work, sheer will and dedicated sweat brought him back almost all the way. He stole 42 bases, hit .283 and knocked in 82 RBIs to earn "Comeback Player of the Year" honors from the Sporting News in 1972.

When Tolan arrived in San Diego, he literally picked the team up and carried it on his shoulder through the first half of the '74 season. He banged his knee and underwent surgery in late July and was lost until 15 Sept. A measure of his worth . . . the Padres were 11-39 with him out of the line up. The quick return hurt him in the long run and he fell off to a .254 average last season as a semi-parttime player.

But it's more than just his playing that makes Bobby a winner. He has a tremendous effect on young players and teaches the trade with the skill of an old master. He helped Derrel Thomas along the road from youth to manhood and from neophyte to solid starter in anybody's lineup.

Tolan did all the little things that sometimes get skipped in the memory of the action. Headlines go to those who knock in winning runs, but to baseball folk, honors also go to those who put runners in scoring position.

Bobby might go 0-for-4, but a check of the scorebook shows that three of his four at bats saw runners moving up. That's the way he plays the game. Skillfully and intelligently. And always for the team.

Fortune takes Bobby Tolan to Japan and he will be sorely missed as both a friend and poised professional performer. We wish him Godspeed and the best of luck. And stand thankful that he passed our way.

Crime Rate Rises 12 Per Cent Here

Preliminary data collected by the S.D. Regional Criminal Justice Planning Committee indicates that serious crime in San Diego County increased by 12.3 per cent during 1975.

Data was obtained by surveying all law enforcement agencies in the County.

A total of 102,856 crimes was reported in 1975 as compared to 91,556 in 1974.

County crime rose from 60.1 a 1,000 population in 1974 to 66 a 1,000 population in 1975, an increase of 9.8 per cent.

There was a 22.7 per cent increase in rape during 1975, with 95 more cases reported to authorities in 1975 than the prior year. Burglaries were up by 4,748 over 1974, an increase of 18.6 per cent. Robberies were up by 418 or 13.9 per cent, and auto theft increased by 748, a jump of 9.6 per cent over 1974.

Larceny, which accounted for the largest share of the overall increase with 4,951 more reports in 1975, rose by 9.5 per cent and four more homicides were reported, a 3.6 per cent increase over 1974.

Burglar Loses $1,750

A burglar entered the home of Michael Victor Baumeister on February 10 while he was at work. Sheriff's deputies said the thief entered the house, at 1221 San Bernardino st., Spring Valley, through a sliding glass window.

Missing is stereo equipment and a color television set valued at $1,750.

Doorknob Twist' Used

A Panasonic stereo-phonograph and speakers, all worth $200 were taken from the home of Gayle Bernice Topp while she was away on February 11.

The burglar entered her residence at 7137 Waite dr. in Lemon Grove by using the "doorknob twist" — a trick growing in popularity with the burglarizing fraternity.

E/W Drag Title Booked at OCIR

Orange County International Raceway officials, in their quest to produce quality and entertaining drag race events, will present their East vs. West Championships on Saturday.

East vs. West confrontations, although becoming rather common at Southland drag race facilities, are usually restricted to "peak" summer months and limited to competition in AA/Funny Car and Top Fuel dragster categories.

Both these standards will be ignored in OCIR's championship event Saturday as Eastern drivers make a rare winter appearance. For the first time in drag race history this East vs. West event will decide supremacy in not only Top Fuel and AA/Funny Car but will be extended to Wheelstanders and Rocket powered dragsters.

All drivers will race in all 3 rounds of competition including the first ever side-by-side 300 m.p.h. rocket dragster cash.

Gates open at 1:30 p.m.; time trials are 2:30 p.m. with racing at 7 p.m.

TOP RACER — Lemon Grove's Bill Silverthorn displays trophies he captured in the Park 400 off-road race. He drove to victory in the 4-wheeled vehicle class and shared $72,680 prize money with top finishers in 14 classes.

Grove Man Wins Parker 400 Off-Road, 4-Wheeled Class

PARKER, Ariz.—Bill Silverthorn, 34, of Lemon Grove, driving unassisted in SCORE's Parker 400 off-road race brought his Chenoweth Wedge VW powered single seat buggy to an untroubled four-wheeled vehicle win in SCORE's Parker 400 off-road race in a time of 7 hours 40 minutes.

The near 400 mile desert race had a record 335 vehicles, from all corners of the United States, leave the starting line. Most of the vehicles had at least two drivers signed to aid with the driving chores.

However, Silverthorn, who won $5,000, chose to go it alone and certainly proved he didn't need any help combating the gruelling course.

A few years ago, Silverthorn was a very successful motorcycle rider, winning such major off-road events as the Baja 500 and SCORE's "World Championships" of Off-Road Racing. The Parker event is Silverthorn's first major 4-wheeled vehicle win.

WORLD RECORD — Dwight Stones, holder of both indoor and outdoor high jump world records, at 7ft-6½, will face a tough field Saturday night in the Jack in the Box Indoor Games at the Sports Arena. School events start at 6. Open events at 7:30.

World Stars Assemble for Saturday's Indoor Games

The record book will get its annual going over in the Jack-In-The-Box Indoor Games Saturday night, at the San Diego Sports Arena. Events are continuous starting with high school competition at 6 p.m. Open events start at 7:30.

The lightning-swift San Diego boards have been the scene of 11 outright world records in nine previous years of this indoor classic.

Tanzania's Filbert Bayi is the featured performer this time as he goes after the world indoor record of 3:55.0 in the one-mile run. The record, incidentally, was set by Tony Waldrop at San Diego two years ago.

Facing Bayi will be a truly tremendous field, including New Zealand's Rod Dixon, Marty Liquori of the NYAC and Paul Cummings, formerly of BYU.

1500 Meter Record

Bayi, of course, holds the world record of 3:52.2 at 1500 meters. Dixon was the bronze medalist in the event in the 1972 Olympics. Liquori has run 3:52.2 for a mile. Cummings has run the fastest time this season at 3:57.6.

Dixon also is considering the two mile in which he owns at 8:14.4 clocking. If so, he will hook up with Olympic marathon champion Frank Shorter of the Colorado Track Club.

Meet-manager Al Franken has lined up one of the greatest pole vault fields ever assembled, including Dave Roberts, the Floridian who has cleared 18 ft. 6½ in.

Dan Ripley Scheduled

Dan Ripley, twice holder of the world indoor mark with a best of 18-2¼, joins other 18-footers Earl Bell of Arkansas State and Vic Dias of the Beverly Hills Striders in the battle with Roberts.

Top sprinter is former local boy Steve Williams, ranked No. 1 in the world at 100 meters. Williams now lives in Florida.

The high jump brings together another fine field with the spotlight on world indoor and outdoor record-holder Dwight Stones, who has a best of 7-6½. He will face Tom Woods, Rory Kotinek and Ron Livers, all better than 7-4.

Rick Wohlhuter of the Chicago Track Club is given a good chance to add the indoor 880 record to his many laurels. He holds the outdoor mark at 1:44.1, and is aiming for Ralph Doubell's 1:47.9 indoor standard.

Fisherman Loses Jacket

Life jackets, a compass and tools were taken from a boat Douglas Thomas Henry parked at 7123 London lane in Lemon Grove. The value, he said, is $116.

Ruth's Record Altered By Baseball Committee

Baseball's Official Records Committee, appointed several months ago by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn with the concurrence of league Presidents Chub Feeney and Lee MacPhail, has drawn up a definition of the term pinch-hitter, made a determination on substitute batters for designated hitters and approved revisions in several of the game's official statistics.

The latter includes changes in Babe Ruth's runs batted in and increases the American League club stolen base record.

To clarify who should be considered a pinch-hitter, the Records Committee adopted this definition: A player is a pinch-hitter only if he enters the game as a substitute batter and then only on his first time at bat which must be before he becomes a fielder.

Sometimes in the past substitute batters have been credited with pinch-hitting twice in an inning.

Designated Hitters

The Committee also agreed that a player sent in as a substitute batter for a designated hitter shall be considered a pinch-hitter. However, what he does that time at bat will likewise be counted in the designated hitter statistics. The regulation is retroactive to 1973, the season the American League started using the designated hitter.

A clerical error discovered in the official compilation of Ruth's runs batted in in 1926 was confirmed by the group. Instead of 155 RBI, the committee ruled that Ruth should be credited with only 145 runs batted in — still tops in the American League that season.

Firearms Lessons Offered By NRA

National Rifle Assn. (NRA) Training Counselor Jack Duncan is offering a weekend course in firearms instruction for a limited number of applicants. Graduates of the two-day intensive course will be designated as Certified Rifle, Pistol, Shotgun, or Home Firearms Safety Instructors.

Duncan said that applicants must be members of NRA, have a desire to participate in training young shooters, and be able to attend both days on March 6 and 7. There is a $10 charge for the course at the Valley Gun Club in Santee.

"We can accept only ten people for this session," said Duncan, "but if there is a demonstrated need for more instructors more classes will be held later."

Duncan may be reached at 443-6336 after 5 p.m. or at 448-4611.

Deadline Passes for Filing

Sen. Schrade Faces Opposition; Couppee Challenges Kapiloff

The big news, as the February 11 deadline for filing for various political offices passed, is that Republican State Senator Jack Schrade is going to have what appears to be formidable opposition for the upcoming election.

Bob Wilson, the Democratic Assemblyman of the 77th District, announced recently that he is giving up his post to challenge the veteran Schrade.

When Wilson decided to make the race, that opened his assembly post and the candidates' gates. Filed for the election are Republicans Mike Bollman, a lawyer who ran against Wilson in 1974; Vernon Yoshioka, an engineer; F. T. Quiett, an engineering professor of S.D. State, and S.D. City Councilman Mike Ellis, whose present district is in the western part of the district he wishes to represent as an assemblyman.

El Cajon City Councilman John Reber is among the Democrats seeking Wilson's post. Reber is a PacTelCo executive. Tim Cohelan, a lawyer and former field representative for U. S. Senator Alan Cranston, and Wiley Davis, a semiretired El Cajon businessman.

Wilson Faces Opposition

Wilson, if he is to challenge Schrade, must first defeat a fellow Democrat, Jess R. Macias, in the June primary. Macias is an engineer and affirmative action official for Teledyne-Ryan. It is his first venture into politics.

Incumbent Peter Chacon, 79th District assemblyman, a Democrat, is facing party competition from John R. French, former administrative assistant to Assemblyman Larry Kapiloff and later for City Councilman Jess Haro.

A Republican candidate is Philip N. Andreen, a lawyer and member of the Coronado school board. Bruce Emery, a construction worker of North Park, has filed as a member of the American Independent Party.

Al Couppee, popular sports-caster/sportswriter has filed as a Republican to challenge incumbent Democrat Larry Kapiloff for his 78th District assembly post.

A woman who lists herself as Contissina, is the American Independent Party candidate. Contissina once challenged Sheriff John Duffy for his job as an anti-gun activist. Kapiloff is seeking his third term in office.

Deddeh Faces Skater

Waddie Deddeh, whose district once included Lemon Grove and most of Spring Valley, will have no Democratic opposition, however Lynn N. Pankhurst, a Chula Vista homemaker, is the Republican nominee. Pankhurst is a former professional ice skater.

Up in the 76th District Assemblyman William Craven, a Republican, is in political heaven. He has no opponent from either party. A former supervisor, Craven will serve his second term.

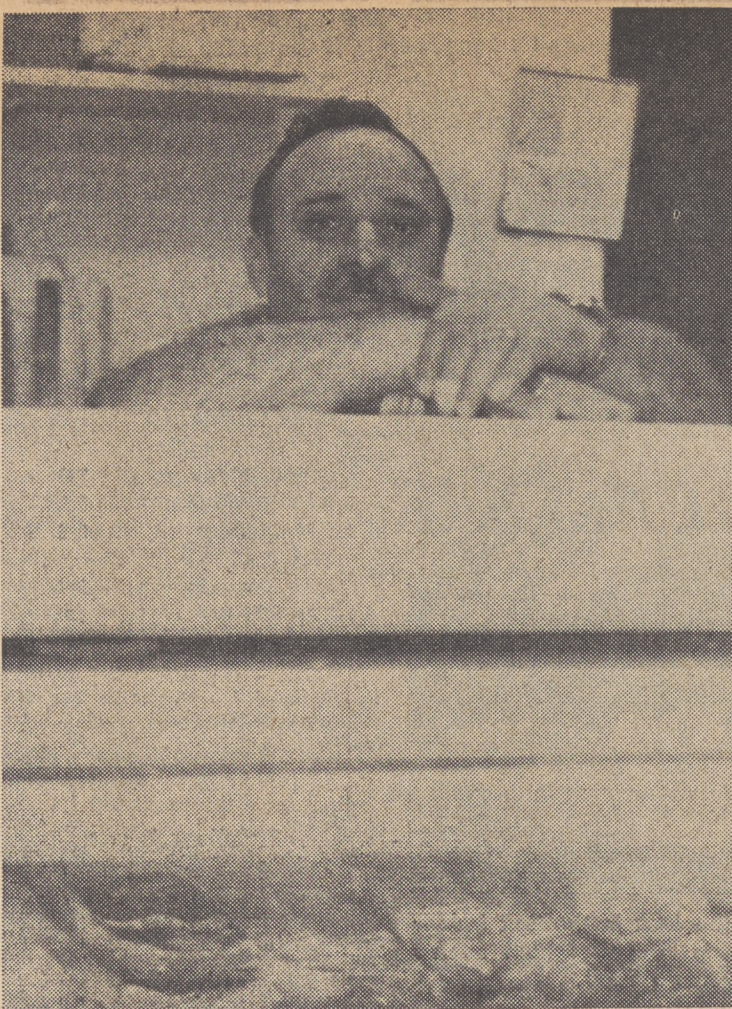

Politics being what it is offers a slightly different meaning on deadline filing. Those who have filed a letter of intent have until March 17 to turn nominating petitions in to the registrar of voters. The letter of intent would have been accompanied by the non-refundable fee or with the required number of signatures on petitions instead of money. Observers feel that such persons are not serious about running.

Church Loses Mikes

Intruders took two microphones from the podium in the sanctuary of the Lemon Grove Congregational United Church of Christ on the evening of February 11.

The loss was reported by the church's pastor Fred M. Bradley who said the instruments were worth $120.

The church, at 2770 Glebe rd., was closed for the night when the loss occurred.

OPENS MARKET — Mr. G. Malloian peeks over the meat counter at his new Bancroft Market at 3650 Bancroft dr. The new Spring Valley grocery stocks fresh meats, produce, beer and wine and other grocery items.

A Look at Past Issues

Back Pages

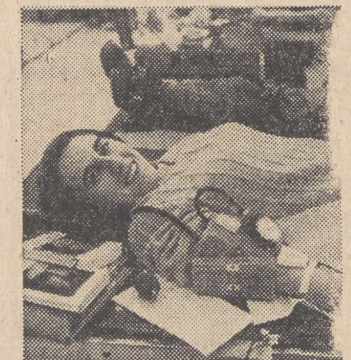

A look at the pages of this newspaper twenty years ago reveals some of the interesting contrasts between then and now. This column highlights some of the items that appeared in this newspaper at this time two decades ago.

Sam Yorty visited Lemon Grove 20 years ago this week as a guest speaker at the Golden Avenue School. Yorty was a candidate for the state senate at the time he was in the area making a speech. He later became the mayor of Los Angeles and is currently the host of a local television talk show in that city.

The Mayfair Market in Lemon Grove began giving away premium stamps. Stamp books with $3 in stamps were to be distributed and hundreds of dollars worth of groceries and prizes were given away during the kick-off of the stamp giveaway.

The Dulzura Development committee, a chartered, non-profit organization, completed negotiations for the purchase of a quonset hut from the Dulzura School Board. The building was to be used for additional school space and also made available for recreation, religious and educational purposes.

Lie down and be counted.

In America, 3% of the people give 100% of all the blood that's freely donated.

Which means that if only 1% more people—maybe you—became donors, it would add over thirty percent more blood to America's voluntary blood-stream. Think of it!

But forget arithmetic. Just concentrate on one word.

The word is Easy.

Giving blood is easy. You hardly feel it (in fact, some people say they feel better physically after a blood donation).

And, of course, everybody feels better emotionally.

Because it's a great feeling knowing your own easy blood donation has helped up to five other people to live.

So how about it, 1% of America? Are you going to lie down and be counted?

Call your local Red Cross Chapter, or your community's volunteer blood bank. We need you now.

Inflation hasn't changed the price of ashes.

But it has changed the price of your home. For example, if you bought a $20,000 home in 1968—today it's worth about $27,000. Don't be left with a costly pile of ashes. See me about a State Farm Homeowners Policy that will cover your home for all it's worth... and keep it that way with automatic Inflation Coverage.

Cajon Air Cade Takes Off Saturday at Gillespie Field

The 10th annual El Cajon Chamber of Commerce Gillespie Field Air Cade is held Saturday and Sunday.

Among the entertainment will be the Naval Training Center's Drum and Bugle Corps, the famous 50 Man Flag Team and Choir, the KGB Chicken, Fly-bys of Antique Aircraft, experimental Aircraft, Warbirds of the Past, Sailplanes, Ray Cote eight times World Champion in the Formula Class of Racing Planes, and a Hang Glider Demonstration by a popular marine exhibit pilot.

The El Cajon Chapter of 99's, an international organization of women pilots, will be hosting the 3 cents a pound airplane ride. There will be a spot landing contest and a mystery landing contest.

Many displays of aviation oriented products will be presented plus varied exhibits of arts and crafts and auto racing equipment.

As a preface to the weekend events, on Friday there will be an Air Cade Bash at the German-American Society in El Cajon. A band playing everything from Glenn Miller to the latest in rock music will be in attendance. Tickets are on sale at the El Cajon Chamber of Commerce office.

The weekend Air Cade is free. Door prizes will be given to lucky coupon holders.

Kenrick Kickoff Campaign Sat.

Walt Kenrick, candidate for the second district Supervisorial seat, will officially open his campaign headquarters at 332 West Douglas st. in El Cajon Saturday.

The public is invited to the opening, scheduled 3:30-5 p.m. "Entertainment and refreshments will be the order of the day and while there will be no political speech I'll be available to answer any questions and to meet personally with all who attend," said Kenrick.

Kenrick is a 20-year veteran with the Sheriff's Department and a resident of La Mesa.

Bollman Calls Atom Power Ban Threat to Security, Economy

Mike Bollman, 77th Assembly District candidate, has called for the defeat of the anti-nuclear power initiative, Proposition 15.

He said at the S.D. County Federation of Republican Women's meeting at the Bahia Hotel that the anti-nuclear initiative "is a threat to our national security and our country's economic well being."

"Nuclear energy is safe, is clean and is economical. The U.S. desperately needs more energy, not less," he said.

"The initiative is dangerous. If it passes, it will not only halt construction of all new nuclear facilities, but may result in all present nuclear energy plants being closed.

"Our country must become self-sufficient in the field of energy. Proposition 15 is a big step in the wrong direction. It must be defeated."

Tim Cohelan in Assembly Race

Tim Cohelan, 31, a San Diego attorney, has announced his candidacy for the 77th Assembly seat being vacated by Assemblyman Bob Wilson.

Cohelan's announcement came directly after Wilson announced his intention to run against State Sen. Jack Schrade.

Cohelan, who lives in Clairemont is a Democrat and former field representative for U. S. Senator Alan Cranston. He said he would continue to practice law until the election.

Cohelan said that state lawmakers have an exciting future in the field of energy and that energy will be an important issue as the world supplies are depleted.

"I believe we will find a solution and I expect to take part helping resolve the problem," he said. A substitute for high gasoline usage will have to be developed, he added.

He said his philosophy was to return to local communities all of the control possible that is now being usurped by higher government levels. "Citizens are learning that government can't be all things to all people.

"Also, we must begin relocating our priorities on education." He noted that one California private school had returned to the old, famed McGuffey Reader and had improved students' reading ability dramatically.

Cohelan's father is Jeffery Cohelan, a six term former U. S. Congressman of the Berkeley Area.

EC Councilman In 77th Race

John Reber, an El Cajon City Councilman, put himself squarely in the race for the 77th Assembly District last week during a conference at Top Shelf Restaurant.

He seeks the seat being vacated by Assemblyman Bob Wilson. Wilson is quitting his post to challenge State Sen. Jack Schrade. Schrade is 73 and has been in office 21 years and will seek reelection.

Reber appeared unequivocally committed to "completely removing all taxes from property." He would replace it with an income tax.

He would require tests of teachers to improve education in public schools. Those who couldn't cause Johnny to read "would be out," he said.

Mandatory jail sentences would strengthen the link in the criminal justice chain "but we'd have to build more jails."

Tax Breaks on Savings

He was also firm in his pronouncement that more jobs should be created by government. Tax breaks of savings accounts would make more money available for business and this would create more jobs, he said.

John Reber

Those on welfare would be assigned jobs such as maintenance or security. They would be required to accept the jobs or be dropped from the welfare rolls, he stated.

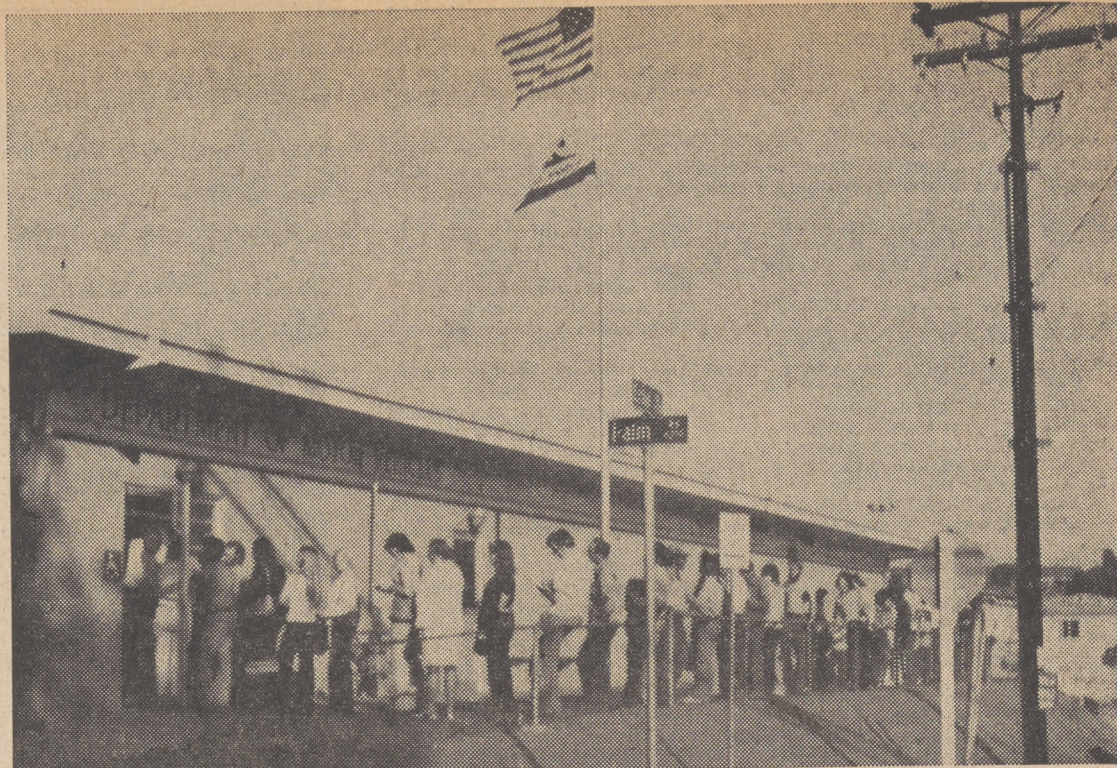

General obligation bonds sold by the state could provide financing for low income families to create jobs in construction. He admitted that mortgages might have to be extended to 40 or 50 years to make a new home possible for many families.

Victimless crimes, such as marijuana and prostitution would get less police attention while more effort would be given more serious crimes.

Reber is a Democrat. He will take a leave of absence from his job with the Pacific Telephone Co. and from his duties as a councilman to campaign.

GRAND FINALE — While long lines formed outside Department of Motor Vehicles office in La Mesa during the recent auto registration deadline week, entertainers like Michael L. Smith (left), who plays an electric organ called a "fun machine," made the wait more pleasant.

DMV's state director Herman Sillas asked local office managers to book entertainment during the final week of renewal in observance of the last of the last-minute renewal crowds. Auto registration renewals can be mailed and are now staggered throughout the year.

Bell Bill Would Close Extra Fed. Agencies

Business firms will rejoice if a bill introduced by U. S. Congressman Alphonzo Bell (R-California) is approved by Congress.

His legislation would automatically abolish most federal regulatory agencies within the next three years unless they are reinstated by specific Congressional action.

The agencies involved employ more than 100,000 people to oversee U. S. business operations and add as much as $100 billion annually in taxes and consumer charges.

Bell said that some regulatory agency activity is essential but some are self-perpetuating, interfering and unnecessary. Under Bell's bill each operation would have to justify itself every three years or be abolished.

11 better-known federal agencies were listed for a review in three years and, thereafter, every five years.

Civil Aeronautics Board;

Consumer Product Safety Commission; Environmental Protection Agency; Federal Communications Comm.; Federal Power Comm.; Federal Trade Comm.; Food and Drug Comm.; Interstate Commerce Comm.; Nuclear Regulatory Comm.; and Securities and Exchange Comm.

Bell noted that certain agencies have unduly interfered with the normal conduct of private enterprise and business in the U. S. His views:

- Some agencies have limited competition and encouraged inflation.
- In some instances overlapping jurisdictions and conflicting mandates cause over-regulation.
- Inefficient and outdated regulations costs consumers billions of dollars every year in higher prices for goods and services.
- He would modify or eliminate agencies that have ceased to serve or promote the public welfare.

Bell said that he gets a common message from business, and particularly small businessmen: "Help us with the government regulatory agencies!"

Bates Picks O'Connor As Legislative Aide

Colleen O'Connor, 1974 Democratic candidate for the U. S. Congress against longtime Congressman Bob Wilson, has taken the post of special assistant for legislative affairs to Fourth District Supervisor Jim Bates.

O'Connor is a former legislative aide to the California State Assembly and lecturer in American History at San Diego State College.

Beerstronaut

Astronaut Charles M. Duke, Jr., is now in the beer business in Texas.

Campaign Fund Law In 'Step Backward' Finch

Robert Finch, Republican candidate for U. S. Senate, called the Supreme Court's ruling on the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1974 "a giant step backward for the cause of real political reform."

He said "the high court's decision is fraught with loopholes which could spell a return to shadow committees and political kingmakers."

He also called it "the incumbents and millionaires relief act."

The incumbent's advantage can be found in federal disclosure forms showing what the challenger and the incumbent spent on campaign postage and salaries, he said.

The postage franking privilege and large tax-paid staffs which grind out press statements give the incumbent an incredible advantage, he said.

San Diego County has taken energy conservation to court.

And to jail. To parks, Juvenile Hall, the Law library, the County Administration Center and to other County buildings covering 2.2 million square feet.

Just heating and lighting all that space adds up to a substantial energy bill each year. One that would be higher without a 23% drop in consumption since 1973, when the County Board of Supervisors ordered a massive, county-wide energy saving effort. In just one year, the County reduced hallway lighting by 60%, custodial lighting by 50%, outdoor night lighting by 90%, office lighting by 33% and lighting at Gillespie Field by 70%.

They set heating levels at 68° air conditioning at 78° They reduced hot water temperatures to 120°. Reduced operating time for mechanical equipment by 33%. Redesigned building plans to include more energy efficient window arrangements, site locations and heating systems.

Today, the County is continuing their effective program . . . and adding even more innovative efforts as directed by the Board of Supervisors. Like testing solar water heating for certain County buildings. And, this summer, they hope to begin installing a centralized computer control system for five major facilities which will sense electrical loads, determine priorities, reduce peak use, automate almost all heating and lighting functions for maximum energy efficiency . . . and pay for itself in just three and a half years!

So if you'd like to see real energy saving in action, go directly to jail . . . the County Jail. Better yet, call us. We've been helping San Diego businesses and governmental agencies conserve for the past five years. And we're sure we can help you settle your energy waste problems . . . out of court.
